ROOSEVELT HAS POWER UNDER CODE

Stock Market Killing and Public Scandal Feared if Interests Prevail on Executive to Act.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—It was learned today that NRA officials are alarmed over the possibility that President Roosevelt may exercise the power vested in him by the code to fix the price of crude oil. They are convinced that the effort of the so-called "independent" producers group which includes Harry Sinclair may result in a gigantic killing in the stock market and a stock scandal.

A responsible official of the NRA said today that he has reliable reports showing that one of the up has approximately 56,000,000 barrels of crude oil in storage. If President Roosevelt were to fix the price at the level requested by the independent interests, the value of the stored oil would be increased by 50 cents a barrel.

In the negotiations with the oil Administrator Hugh Johnson and his aids held out against the demand for a price-fixing clause, it was supported by Standard of New Jersey and other large companies.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Reports of the beginning of heavy Government bond purchases by the Federal Reserve System sent the stock market to new highs for the recovery, under the lead of the railroads.

The market, which had been a dull affair for the better part of the day, turned strong and highly active in the last hour and many issues, including Chrysler, General Motors and Loew's made new highs for the recovery.

AUDITOR SAYS MISSOURI CANNOT PAY ITS BILLS WITHOUT MORE REVENUE

Declares Otherwise State Will Be Unable to Meet Payroll or Operating Expenses After Sept. 1—Suggests Sales Tax.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 22.—A general sales tax so low that the retailer can absorb it was advocated today by Forrest Smith, State Auditor, as the only solution of the State's impending financial crisis. Unless additional revenue is provided, Smith says, it is doubtful that the State's payroll or operating expenses can be paid after Sept. 1.

"In my opinion," Smith said, "it is absolutely necessary for a special session of the Legislature to pass a sales tax to bolster up the State's revenue, give relief to the schools and provide additional funds for State relief." There was about $400,000 in the State general revenue fund today, $160,000 of which is for distribution to the counties for criminal costs. The civil list salary warrants of $220,000 on Sept. 1 will more than wipe out the balance, unless unexpected revenue is received in the meantime.

Virtually all of the anticipated revenue for the year has been received, Smith said. The situation already is so acute that Smith has refused to pay $100,000 to the University of Missouri for operating expenses dur-

TWO ARMY OFFICERS IN EXCHANGE OF WIVES

Women "on Vacation" Obtain Divorces Under 90-Day Arkansas Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 22.—The story of how two well-known army officers became the husbands of each other's wives through the Arkansas 90-day divorce law came to light here today when Capt. William B. Bradford returned to Fort Leavenworth with his bride, the former Mrs. Stuart MacDonald.

In the exchange, Major Mac- Donald, now stationed at a Civilian Conservation Corps camp in Pennsylvania, was the former Mrs. Brad- ford. It is said that the two wives were separated over the Arkansas divorce law came to light here today when Capt. William B. Bradford returned to Fort Leavenworth with his bride, the former Mrs. Stuart MacDonald.

The same attorney represented both women. The same Judge handled down the decrees for both. Their licenses for remarriage were obtained in the same office at about the same time and the two pairs were married by the same Justice of the Peace, although it was not a double ceremony.

Last winter, while both the officers were stationed here, the two women announced they were going to the Ozarks for a vacation.

The vacation stretched into weeks and finally into months. Then Capt. Bradford left for a trip, returning with the woman who had been the wife of Maj. MacDonald.

NURSEMAID WEDS AS LAMSON TRIAL GETS UNDER WAY

State's Witness in Alleged Wife-Murder at Stanford U. Said to Be an Expectant Mother.

DEFENSE COUNSEL DENIES INFERENCES

First Peremptory Challenge of Juror—Dispute Over Questions Concerning the Death Penalty.

By the Associated Press.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 22.—A dispute between attorneys concerning the questioning of jurors on the "inflicting of the extreme penalty" marked the opening today of the second day of David A. Lamson's trial for murder.

E. M. Rea, attorney for the 31-year-old representative of the Stanford University Press who is accused of beating to death his wife, Allegene Thorne Lamson, protested to Judge R. R. Syer against State Attorneys asking jurors the question.

Rea contended it was within the province of the jury to decide whether death or life imprisonment should be inflicted on conviction. He said the Supreme Court had held such questions were improper. Judge Syer overruled the protest on the ground that the prosecution could not otherwise ascertain the views of the juror.

Possibility of immediately accepting the jury disappeared when Assistant District Attorney Alan P. Lindsey used his first peremptory challenge to excuse a man selected.

A collateral feature of the case was the marriage at Vallejo, last night of Esther Dolores Roberts, 18 years old, nurse maid in the Lamson home at the time of the tragedy last Memorial day. Miss Roberts became the bride of Warren S. Sorenson, 21, San Jose, on a marriage license obtained last July 7.

Miss Roberts has been subpoenaed by the prosecution as a witness and had been under medical care at the home of Dr. Margaret Lamson, physician and sister of the defendant, who has told Lamson that the girl was to become a mother. Lamson said he knew nothing of the girl's personal affairs.

Rea added that he had nothing to do with the case "and we are ready to refute any such inference."

From questioning of veniremen came these facts concerning the evidence:

The State will present a case built almost entirely on circumstantial evidence.

The jury will not be locked up during the trial if the defense has its way.

The State will demand the death penalty on conviction.

The defense will devote its efforts toward establishing in the minds of the jurors a "reasonable doubt" concerning the circumstantial case of the prosecution.

It appears the defense will endeavor to prove Lamson could not have killed his wife. The defense will try to shift the blame on an unidentified prowler.

HOOVER IS ASKED TO TESTIFY IN BANK INQUIRY IN DETROIT

Former President Requested to Tell One-Man Grand Jury What He Knows About Situation.

HIS APPEARANCE NOT COMPULSORY

Senator Couzens Continues Story, Digressing to Attack Mellon Income Tax Rebate Policy.

By the Associated Press
DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 22.—Of the one-man Detroit bank inquiry today dispatched a letter to former President Herbert Hoover, asking him to appear as a witness before the jury investigating the closing of two National banks here. A decision "as soon as possible" was asked of the former President.

Under instructions of Judge Harry E. Kildan, sitting as a jury to investigate the closing of the First National Bank, the country's largest closed bank, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy sent the letter to the former President, in Palo Alto, Cal.

What the Letter Says.

The letter stated that officials of the jury desired his testimony "concerning the attitude of the Administrative agencies and Federal Government toward the two closed National banks prior to March 4, 1932."

It stated that the opinion of officials was that Hoover had in his possession "certain facts which might render your testimony as a witness highly significant and essential to a thorough and true presentation of the reasons underlying the closing of the Detroit banks." Senator James Couzens (Rep.) of Michigan, who had asked the jury to ask Hoover to come here for testimony. Previously the Senator had declared that the Government knew of "bad practices" in the two closed banks in May, 1932, nearly a year before they closed, but that only a small write-down of losses was required then because "it was a political year, and the powers that be were not anxious to start an epidemic of bank closings."

Hoover On Fishing Trip.
Word from Palo Alto was that Hoover was on a fishing trip and might not be reached for a day or two.

Possibility that Hoover would be asked to testify before the jury was broached several weeks ago. Judge Kildan disclosed the former President had been "approached as to his inclination to testify. Whether or not depositions would be taken California or Hoover would be asked to come here, were not decided at that time. In the letter today, however, the President was asked to come to Detroit.

Attorneys said the request to the former President would have no force, since, and that Hoover was "at perfect liberty" to decline if he wished.

Couzens Continues Story.

Meanwhile Senator Couzens today continued before the jury his recital of the "inside story" of the local bank collapse, declaring "an attempt to make millions, without really earning them, by a consolidation and pyramiding of banks, without the depositors' consent" led to the difficulties. The general depression which caused an unprecedented shrinkage in banking values, but he declared that had the two national banks been "properly managed," they would not have closed.

The Senator digressed to declare his objections to the administration of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury Department, "would take volumes to relate," but mentioned one particular objection, which he said, was "the system of income tax rebates."

"I didn't object so much to the individuals who got rebates, but to the lack of uniformity in the Internal Revenue Department's interpretations of the law," he said. "First they would interpret it one way and then the opposite way, to suit themselves."

"Both political parties have favorites and do not enforce the law with equal justice. A man with money too much power, when he should have less than the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow."

Senator Reads From the Reports of Federal Examiners.

On the stand yesterday Couzens read what he said were reports of Federal bank examiners detailing "bad practices" in the First National. The reports, he said, were made in October, November, 1932.

"There are at least $700,000 of slow assets and $50,000,000 of doubtful assets, not including loans on Detroit Bankers' Co. (The First National Holding Co.) stock which is classified as slow but should be considered doubtful," quoted the Senator, reading from the examiner's report. "There are $40,000,000 in assets. How the institution will ever work out cannot be foretold." This Couzens said, was from a report made last November.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "the Government should have done something to protect the depositors and protect people from depositing more money. But it was a matter of statement to make later."

Setting New Mark for Inverted Flying

SAYS U. S. BANK EXAMINER KNEW OF FORGED BONDS

Kansas Governor Notifies Comptroller of Currency Federal Man "Apparently Participated" in Transaction.

By the Associated Press
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 22.—Gov. Alf M. Landon served notice today on the Federal Comptroller of Currency that a national bank examiner "apparently" had "participated in a transaction" under which $150,000 in forged municipal bonds were removed from among the assets of the National Bank of Topeka and replaced by a like amount of State of Kansas funds.

The allegation, latest development in the investigation into the alleged Kansas million-dollar municipal bond swindle, was made by the Governor in a letter addressed to the Comptroller.

The examiner was identified by the Governor only as a "Mr. Allen," who was said to have become aware of the presence of the forged bonds in the bank's assets in the course of an examination as of June 21.

"Soon it will be claimed that recovery in industry will be more certain and business more stable if permitted to return to its old channels of activity," Dickinson said.

Open criticism would soon appear against the general program of Government direction of private enterprises, he said.

"Soon it will be claimed that ballyhoo," exemplified through such terms as "iron heel" and "big stick" should not be allowed to place on the program a dictatorial stigma."

Dickinson said that currency stabilization was an "all-important factor" in the success of the program.

"Our tariff schedules are all dependent upon a stable money," he said. "Creating a market for our own produce without barring imports from absorbing such market would be folly. This is merely suggestive of the many complications growing out of the present crisis."

"Tariff bargaining seems to have been forgotten."

"Have we not sufficient complications growing out of world conditions, and sufficient conflict of interest in domestic affairs, so that the Government as an umpire in many economic disputes will be either politely ignored or driven from the field by a pop bottle barrage of conflict of interests?"

"When we realize that the Federator, suggested that every industry was responsible for those normally attached to it, regardless of how they lost their jobs."

Advisory Board of Comptroller of the Currency.

The Comptroller's Office has decided as a step to protect the public against profiteering to request all industries now operating under codes to submit information on recent price increases.

In addition, at the suggestion of the newly created Central Statistical Board of the Government, each code approved in the future would include provisions requiring the submission of such statistical information as may be necessary.

The decision marks the first of the long-planned moves by Administrator Johnson to keep track of rising prices and prevent them from soaring upward faster than the purchasing power of the nation can be stimulated. This, the administrator contends, would be fatal to the program since buying ability insufficient to consume the fruits of industry has been one of the underlying causes of the depression.

Co-operation Stressed.

"You can't execute a great national law like this on ballyhoo and hooey," Johnson said. "The purpose now is to try to get as wide a measure of co-operation possible. After that has been done—and it is almost over now—then we are going to see to those who are doing the cheating."

"The purpose of this act is to enable all trades and industries to rid themselves of those chiseling practices which have been running through your industries. You can decree that ruthless competition and price-cutting is to go."

"A report of this was made to the District Attorney for investigation to discover if there had been any violation of the National banking law. It is not customary and I am not sure that it is part of our duties to make a report of such a situation to state authorities."

Examiner Allen was reported to be in Denver.

Cooperative Committee, also provided by the code, for determination. Hahn replied there could be no quarrel with that suggestion.

Whiteside also asked Hahn about changes made in a revised version of the code which reduced from $5 to $2 the amount of wages which would be exempt under the proposed trade plan and also increased the maximum hours from 40 to 44 hours a week. Hahn said those changes were made at the request of smaller merchants who insisted that otherwise they could not meet the other conditions.

Attorney-General Cummings, who presided at the meeting, said several instances of "unconscionable figures on re-employment.

In opening the hearing, Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside said: "This is the first public hearing on trade, as distinguished from industry, which has ever been held in the United States."

Asks That Hoover Be Invited.
During the listing of unnamed persons who, the Senator said, obtained loans from the bank and would be unable to pay those loans, the Senator digressed to remark: "I am very interested in this gentleman (Mr. Allen) and give his name (his name) because it is believed that, and been reported by him, that Mr. Herbert Hoover says I am a dangerous man and the public should be warned about it."

"At this particular time I want to urge the Attorney-General and the prosecutor to invite Mr. Hoover to come here and tell what a bad man I am that will give me an opportunity to explain to the jury just why I am such a bad man."

Couzens read summaries of reports concerning the Guardian National Bank of Commerce. He quoted the Federal examiner as saying that 40 per cent of the Guardian National's capital was invested in real estate, "with mortgages being foreclosed every day" over 30 per cent of the deposits, the report states, were in 11 accounts. The report continued that while this might prove a strength, particularly if the Ford (Henry Ford) balance might not prove so friendly."

Hoover May Make Statement Later.

PALO ALTO, Calif., Aug. 22.—Herbert Hoover, who returned to his home here today from a fishing trip, did not announce immediately whether he would go to Detroit to testify in the bank case.

Whiteside suggested that this administrative feature be changed so as to require specifically that local committees submit questions of enforcement and control to the na-

Senator Dickinson Declares Government Won't Be Tolerated as Umpire in Economic Disputes

Iowa Republican Says It's About Time for Business to Return to Old Channels of Activity.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—As an umpire in economic disputes, the Government will be either "politely ignored or driven from the field by a pop bottle barrage of conflict of interest," Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa said today.

Senator Dickinson, keynote speaker at the last Republican national convention, addressed a luncheon group at the Midland Club, commenting upon the Government's economic program.

"The present administration in Washington is definitely committed to a policy of definite centralized Government control," Dickinson said.

Open criticism would soon ap-

CANOIST DROWNED

BERNARD SALOFSKY.

BOY, 16, DROWNS AS CANOE UPSET AT HOUSE SPRINGS IN POISON MURDER

Bernard Saldofsky of St. Louis loses life in Echo Lake as two friends hasten to rescue.

Bernard Saldofsky, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Saldofsky, 5753 Easton avenue, drowned yesterday in Echo Lake, House Springs, Mo., when his canoe overturned.

Two friends, several hundred yards away, attempted to rescue him before he sank, but were unsuccessful. The boy was recovered after a brief search and artificial respiration tried for two hours.

Bernard, who would have been senior at Soldan High School if not, went to Echo Lake Road about 35 miles from St. Louis, yesterday for a week's vacation. He was accompanied by Bert Lambert, 21, 1384 Goodfellow boulevard, and Abe Osheroff, 22, 1366 Shawneen place.

Lambert, who was in another canoe on the lake, said he heard Bernard scream and saw the splash as he fell into the water. Unable to paddle to the youth quickly enough, he called to Bernard to turn around and hold onto the overturned canoe. Osheroff was near a cottage on shore and ran toward the lake, but fell and sprained his ankle. Bernard, who was said not to be a good swimmer, apparently became excited and unable to help himself.

He was member of the Soldan football and track teams. In the summer, he had worked in his father's deli, 5753 Easton, and was employed there as a boy. Personal services were held today from the Ozenhander chapel, 4479 Washington boulevard, with burial Chased Shiloh Cemetery.

House Robbed of $10 and Rings

Mrs. Payne Hahn, 1743 College avenue, East St. Louis, reported her purse containing $10 and two diamond rings she valued at $250 were stolen from a bedroom on the fourth floor last night. The thief apparently entered by an unlocked back door.

WIFE OF N. D. WOOD GETS
GROSS ALIMONY OF $10,000
Also Awarded Custody of Child and $125 a Month for His Support.

Gross amount of $10,000, with $125 a month for support of a child was awarded Mrs. Dorothy Louis
Evans Wood by Circuit Judge
Note at Clayton today, in her divorce suit against Norwell D. Wood, former operator of two Delmar boulevard filling stations. She alleged general indignities.

The award was based on Mrs.

Wood's testimony that her husband owned a second mortgage on property at the southeast corner of Delmar boulevard and Adelaide avenue, from which he would receive $22,000 annually, beginning next year.

Judge Note also awarded Mrs.
Wood's attorney, Clyde Snider, $350. Wood was not in court. Lowell Sparling, his attorney, informed the Judge he had not seen his client for five weeks. Mrs. Wood testified her husband associated with another woman.

Philadelphia Car Men Get Raise.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. today announced 10,000 employees are to be given wage increases of 8 1/2 per cent beginning Sept. 1. The increase will add $300 to the annual payroll and mean that the basic wage of trainmen will be increased from 60 to 68 cents an hour.
The company stated. Last April the day of trainmen was cut to 60 cents from 65.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1933

U. S. WILL BEGIN BUYING 5,000,000 HOGS TOMORROW

First Purchases in Slaughter Program to Cut Surplus to Be Made at Six Midwest Stockyards.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The Government tomorrow will begin to buy 4,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 sows at six Midwest stockyards in an effort to reduce a troublesome surplus and raise farm prices in the corn belt and other pork producing regions.

First purchases will be made at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St.
Paul, Minn.; Sioux City and St. Joseph, Mo. By Monday buying will get under way at other markets.
Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in announcing the plan here last week said it was expected to cost about $55,000,000 and to be paid for by a processing tax on pork products beginning Oct. 1.

The hope is to have the fall crop of hogs and farmers willing to sell sows due to farrow soon will receive the market price plus a flat premium of $4 a head. By not making usual market deductions on sows, the farmer will benefit another dollar or so, representatives of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration said. The premium for pigs will amount to $2 to $4 a hundred pounds.

Sales Through Usual Channels.

"Farmers can sell through their usual channels," said C. B. Thornton, administrator of the administration's corn and hog division.
"At the yards the hogs will be weighed under supervision of a Government inspector, who will see that no runts are included, and that the hogs meet the other specifications. They will then be turned over to the packers who have contracted with the Government to slaughter the hogs."

Vigilance will be maintained to see that speculators do not misrepresent the market price. Pigs each lot must not vary more than 30 pounds in weight.

The big deal is aimed at pigs of from 25 to 100 pounds and sows weighing at least 275 pounds. The South will receive $3 less a hun-dredweight for its range stock than will be paid for the Midwest's corn fed stock.

Differentials Announced.

Farm administrators announced differentials in prices to be paid for pigs weighing from 25 to 100 pounds. The full premiums range from $1.00 a hundred weight will be paid at Chicago, the "chase" processing point. Prices in other areas will be higher or lower, reckoning differences in transportation and other costs. These prices in part follow, with the processing point given first and the differential per 100 pounds next.

Oklahoma and Missouri, minus 50 cents; Missouri points in Iowa and Minnesota, minus 20 cents; Indiana,
Kentucky and Tennessee, minus 10 cents; Milwaukee, St. Louis and National Stock Yards, Ill., minus
10 cents.

Great August Sale is a gala event that will go down in history as perhaps the last of its kind in this generation.

Tomorrow three carloads of pigs, purchased at old-time lower levels several months ago from a nationally-known manufacturer, are placed on sale at prices that mean unforgettable savings. Rich, luxurious 9x12 Domestic ministers in 9x12, 6x9 and 8 1/2' x

the low wholesale costs of several months ago.

MAN, 69, KILLED
BY AUTO; ANOTHER
DIES IN COLLISION

Alexander Lunte, Watchman for Company 48 Years, Struck Crossing Natural Bridge at Warne.

Alexander Lunte, 69-year-old private watchman, died at DePaul Hospital last midnight of injuries suffered three hours earlier when struck by an automobile as he was attempting to cross Natural Bridge avenue at Warne street.

The driver, Frank Coleman, Negro laborer, of 10 South Kinloch Park, reported that Lunte hesitated in the street, and then stepped into the path of the machine. He suffered fracture of the skull and leg.

Lunte lived at 2088 Palm street with his wife, Anna. Nine grown children also survive. He had been working at the Broderick & Bascom Rope Co. for 48 years.

Piano Player Killed in Collision of His Auto and Truck.

Calvin Diston, Negro cabaret entertainer, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into a truck at Broadway and Walnut street.

Diston's car struck a truck operated by Louis Schad, 3549 South Compton avenue, who was on his way to the market accompanied by his wife. Diston's car was turned upside. The Negro was dead when removed from the wreckage. Schad suffered fractured ribs. Mrs. Schad was cut and bruised. Several Negroes riding with Diston were not injured.

Diston, 22, played the piano at a roadhouse at Gravois road and Lindbergh boulevard. His home was in New Orleans.

Man Knocked Down by Policeman's Auto Dies.

Cornelius Little, 55, a Negro, died at City Hospital No. 2 Sunday of a fractured skull suffered Saturday afternoon when his hand cart became caught in the fender of a passing automobile, and he was knocked to the pavement.

Policeman Sergeant Stephen Collins, Central District, reported he was driving in Fifteenth street, near Olive street, when the fender of his car accidentally caught on the cart, which Little was pushing in the street. Collins took Little to City Hospital No. 2 where a physician said the Negro was suffering from a scalp wound and epilepsy. Little later collapsed at Central District Station and was returned to the hospital. He lived at 2200 Lucas avenue.

Woman and Daughter, 3, Injured in Collision.

Mrs. Lillian Dickman, 4094 Fillmore street, and her daughter, Lillian, 3, were cut and bruised when the Dickman automobile was hit by another machine and overturned at Christy boulevard and Gravois avenue last night.

William E. Glogau, 210 Park road, Webster Groves, and Miss Elizabeth Dougherty, 5512 Delmar boulevard, are at St. Luke's Hospital suffering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Jerseyville, Ill., Sunday night.

Glogau, an insurance salesman, suffered a dislocated shoulder, and Miss Dougherty severe cuts and bruises. Miss Helen Heller of Webster, an occupant of the machine, suffered a fractured collar bone.

Glogau and his wife, the former Mary Virginia Collins, Veiled Prophet queen in 1924, drove to Jerseyville with Miss Dougherty to visit Milton Lamb. Mrs. Glogau remained at the Lamb home when Glogau, Lamb, Miss Heller and Miss Dougherty started out on an errand. The accident occurred at a sharp turn in the road.

BONDS STOLEN IN TEXAS BANK ROBBERY SOLD IN WISCONSIN

Secret Service Agents Seek Man on Parole From Sentence for Rondout Holdup.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Discovery of the sale of a batch of bonds stolen in a Texas bank robbery resulted today in a search by Secret Service agents for Jimmy Murray, on parole from a sentence as one of the Rondout (Ill.) mail robbers, and another man, known only as Ray.

Agents said they obtained their information about the deal from Mrs. Mayme McGowan, Racine, Wis., whom they described as a catapaw. She was arrested on a warrant issued in Milwaukee and was brought here for questioning by Capt. Thomas J. Gallagher, head of the local Secret Service office. According to her story, she received $300 from the man she knew as Ray for disposing of $3750 in Liberty Bonds and other Government securities. She said the deal took place in a barbecue stand operated by Murray, north of Chicago, and in his presence.

RECEIVER KIEL PUTS
P. S. CO. UNDER CODE

Signs Agreement, With Reservations, Qualifying Company for Blue Eagle.

The President's emergency re-employment agreement was signed today by Receiver Henry W. Kiel of the Public Service Co., with certain reservations, thus bringing the street railway system under the NRA and qualifying it for its Blue Eagle.

It will mean an increase in pay of about $80,000 a year, Kiel said, and will mean the addition of some workers.

In addition to the increase of payroll, Kiel estimated the rise in price of materials purchased by the company from concerns operating under the NRA will cost the company about $120,000 a year. He said that if increased employment resulted, the revenues of the company probably would rise sufficiently to offset the increases.

The company has 3000 employees of whom about 2200 are operators of street cars and busses. There are about 350 extra trainmen whose part-time employment is expected to be increased. The addition of employees probably will be in the general offices and in supervisory capacities.

The reservation in the company's acceptance of the President's re-employment agreement reads: "To the extent of National Recovery Administration consent as announced, we have complied with the President's agreement by complying with the substituted provisions of the code submitted for the transit industry."

The substituted provisions have to do mainly with hours. Because of the continuous nature of transportation business and the necessity of completing trips, the modified code provides for a basic work

Drexel Heir Who Elopement and Bride

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY DREXEL

YOUNG DREXEL of the famous Philadelphia family was secretly married at Walhalla, S. C., to Miss Helen Avis Howard of Atlanta, Ga., about the time his mother, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Jr., in the Bahamas, was denying her son was engaged to marry.

Week of 48 hours for trainmen, with allowance of not more than six additional hours, or a maximum of 56 hours, for not more than 10 percent of the workers. Their wages, averaging about 60 cents an hour, fixed by contract with the union, will remain the same, being well above the NRA minimum of 40 cents an hour.

Average earnings of trainmen are about $115 a month. Under the code, the average will be about the same, General Manager Greenland said. In the general offices, the maximum work week is to be 40 hours and in the general shops 44 hours, with minimum wages of $15 a week. Car house workers, maintenance men and track men may work 48 hours.

Operation under the President's agreement, as modified, is expected to be temporary, as a code for the street railway industry has been drafted but has not been approved, pending a hearing scheduled for Aug. 30.

Receiver Kiel obtained the approval of Federal Judge Davis, under whose jurisdiction the Public Service Co. is operated, before signing the President's agreement.

MAJOR-GENERAL PARKER TRANSFERRED TO PHILIPPINES

Sixth Corps Area Commander Among Group of High Army Officers Who Get New Posts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Several high army officers were shifted from post to post under orders issued yesterday by the War Department.

Major-General E. F. Booth was transferred from command of the Philippine department to the Ninth Corps Area at San Francisco Prefecture.

Major-General Frank Parker, in command at the Sixth Corps Area, Chicago, was ordered to sail from San Francisco about Nov. 23 to assume command of the Philippines department.

Major-General Preston Brown, in charge at the Panama Canal Department, will take charge of the Sixth Corps Area.

Michael H. Crowley Had Been Superintendent Since 1915.

HULL, Mass., Aug. 22.—Michael H. Crowley, Superintendent of Boston Police and former president of the International Conference of Police Chiefs, died shortly after midnight today from a heart attack. He was 67 years old.

Crowley joined the Boston police force when he was 22 years old and served in the ranks nearly 19 years. He became superintendent in 1915.

PILOT, MAN AND BRIDE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Craft Hits Power Line When Aviator Attempts to Land at Great Falls, Mont.

By the Associated Press.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 22.—Fred Buck of Kalispell, pilot, Victor Riley, Kalispell, dairy man, and Riley's bride of two months were fatally injured last night when Buck's plane struck a power line and crashed, according to police.

Mrs. Riley was killed almost instantly, while Buck, a grocer, died as he was removed from the wreckage. Riley died shortly after he was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Buck was in Great Falls waiting for the party to arrive. Buck had notified the airport he expected to arrive after dark. Attendants at the airport, which was equipped with floodlights, had set out flares and turned on automobile headlights to provide light for the landing, but the weather was misty and the ceiling so low Buck could not see the power line.

A part of the right wing was torn off when the plane struck the line, and the ship turned over, then struck the earth on its nose. The motor was driven back against the occupants.

Two Flyers Are Killed in Crash at Clarence, Ia.

CLARENCE, Ia., Aug. 22.—Two Monticello flyers were killed yesterday when their small monoplane crashed while they apparently were attempting a forced landing.

Otto Briggs, 30 years old, and William Hanken, 26, were dead, strapped in their seats, when farmers who heard the crash arrived at the scene a few minutes later. Briggs held a transport pilot's license. Hanken was a student pilot.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 22.—Two Monticello flyers were killed yesterday when their small monoplane crashed while they apparently were attempting a forced landing.

Otto Briggs, 30 years old, and William Hanken, 26, were dead, strapped in their seats, when farmers who heard the crash arrived at the scene a few minutes later. Briggs held a transport pilot's license. Hanken was a student pilot.

Parker, who was alone in the building, observed the basement door was partly open and started to turn on a basement light when he was struck. His assailant fled without taking anything. It was the first attempted bank robbery in the history of the city, officers said.

WOMAN FORCED TO ACCOMPANY ROBBERS IN STORE HOLDUP

Granite City Resident Released in Alton and Her Auto Stolen.

Mrs. Margaret Mulberry of Granite City was held up there last night by four men who forced her to accompany them in her Chevrolet sedan to Alton, where they robbed a drug store and released her, driving away in her car.

In Alton they held up Rock Pool, proprietor of a drug store at 2526 College avenue, and nine customers, taking $25 from Pool and $8 from a customer. Lincoln Winship of Alton reported they fired several shots at him when he started to pursue them east on Illinois Highway 160 in his car.

HOLDUP VICTIM

MISS HELEN JOHNSON, bookkeeper for the Borbein-Young Auto Wheel Co., 3222 Lucas avenue, who was a member of the bandit gang, was $110 in company funds by a purse-snatcher yesterday. The man stepped up to her at the mouth of an alley on Leonard avenue between Washington boulevard and Lucas avenue, slapped her, grabbed the bag and fled to a nearby automobile. She lives at 3837 Castleman avenue.

ROBBER SLUGS BANK CASHIER

Fleet Empty-Handed From Joplin, Mo., Depository.

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Aug. 22.—Edgar Parker, assistant cashier of the First State Bank, was knocked unconscious with a blackjack by a man concealed in the bank basement soon after he arrived to open the bank this morning.

Parker, who was alone in the building, observed the basement door was partly open and started to turn on a basement light when he was struck. His assailant fled without taking anything. It was the first attempted bank robbery in the history of the city, officers said.

IRISH 'BLUE SHIRT' ARMY IS DECLARED UNLAWFUL

Military Court with Power to Inflict Death Penalty to Try Guards.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 22.—The Free State Executive Council tonight declared unlawful Gen. Eoin O'Duffy's "Blue Shirts," the National Guardsmen and announced the setting up of a military tribunal under the public safety act.

Guardsmen, unless they resign, will be liable to arraignment before the tribunal, which is empowered to sentence those found guilty to death.

was a Major of the 138th Infantry, commanding it during the battle of the Argonne, and Blanton was commander of the Missouri Department of the American Legion in 1931. When in session each member will get $15 a day.

Two employees of Veterans' Adminstration, Dr. William F. Culbertson and Curtis B. Gates of Kansas City, will be attached to the board. The board may hold its first meeting the latter part of this week.

President Roosevelt has appointed Ruby Hulse of Columbia chairman of the State Democratic Committee; Norman B. Comfort of Clayton, and Harry Blanton of Siloam Springs, members of the Special Review Board of Missouri to investigate claims of veterans under the new congressional act.

Alternates, who will serve in the absence of the three board members, are James J. McMahon, former head of the commanders' conference of St. Louis; Clyde Miller of Moberly, and James W. Skelly, secretary of Scottish Rite Cathedral.

NINE DEAD IN STORM ON EASTERN SEABOARD

Twenty Persons Reported Missing in New Jersey—Heavy Rain Adds to Damage.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A gale that has taken the lives of still passed part of the Eastern seaboard today. Rain increased damage due to waves and tide.

New Jersey, battered by winds that overwhelmed boats and bathers in giant combers, reported 20 still missing.

The center of a second disturbance, sweeping from the general direction of Bermuda, was said to be diminishing in force as it bore down on the Eastern seaboard.

In Southern New Jersey, where a northeaster scattered 100 boats Sunday and capsized at least nine, record rains fell early today. At Atlantic City 20 inches of average for a month fell in a single hour. Streets were flooded, and the morning high tide, it was feared, would inflict great damage. Airplanes in the metropolitan area and as far north as Albany were grounded.

To the seven dead Sunday, two more were added yesterday. Harold Lichten of Germantown, Pa., drowned when a pleasure boat capsized Sunday in Longport Inlet, N. J., Sunday. His wife and two small sons were rescued. Dr. Charles McArthur, 67, a well known physician and amateur artist of South Orange, N. J., was washed from the deck of a fishing boat off Beacon Haven Inlet, N. J., and drowned.

Three small pleasure boats were still missing and coast guardmen at Cape May feared that others might be out in the gale or perhaps sunk by its force.

In Chesapeake Bay the tugboat Point Breeze capsized and its chief engineer, Percy Harrison, was drowned.

In many parts of New York City cellars and streets were flooded, in some cases to a depth of several feet.

2 LINERS DELAYED BY STORM FINALLY LAND IN BERMUDA

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 22.—The meteorological station issued a report this noon saying that the tropical hurricane would blow it out southwest of Bermuda.

The storm at 8 a. m. was 370 miles southwest of the island and was not moving.

Ships delayed in reaching Hamilton by the heavy weather got in today, with none of the passengers any worse for their experience except for the fact that they had suffered from seasickness.

The Monarch of Bermuda and the Southern Cross both docked. The California decided to abandon its Bermuda visit and continue on to New York. The Franconia was expected this afternoon.

JOSEPH A. LENNON TO QUIT AS CIRCUIT ATTORNEY'S AID

Will Retire Sept. 1 to Enter Private Practice and Become Assistant Attorney-General. Joseph A. Lennon, Assistant Circuit Attorney in charge of the grand jury since 1928, announced today that he will retire Sept. 1 to enter private practice and will be appointed Assistant Attorney-General in charge of all matters pertaining to St. Louis.

Lennon has been in close contact with the Police Department the last four and one-half years and has given them material assistance in preparation of many cases, including the Buckingham Annex fire and Alexander Berg kidnapping. He has drawn about 700 indictments and only one has been dismissed because of fault. In that instance, testimony of a witness before the grand jury was not borne out at the trial.

Announcement that he would retire was made when he appeared in Police Court today to ask that charges against 12 members of the Garment Workers' Union be continued until Sept. 6, when, he explained, he will be able to practice law privately.

When Your Mailman
Hands You One of These,
Sign It Quick!

Below is a copy of a Pledge that every St. Louisan will be asked to sign. Your mail-man will bring it to your door. If you're willing to help put yourself and St. Louis over the top, put your name on that card and mail it without delay.

I will buy where I see the Blue Eagle—the official emblem of the NRA. I will do this because I want people to go back to work... wages to go up... prosperity to come back. I promise to keep this pledge to support the President's program faithfully and patriotically. I am keeping the Consumer stickers and the member badges and will display them to advantage.

My Name Is

Street Address

City

Mr. and Mrs. St. Louisian . . . the New Deal has come up to You

THE whole thing may have seemed a bit vague to you, personally, up to now. Just something to read about, usually under a Washington headline.

All that is changed. Now you are definitely needed.

When you were asked to go to France—how long ago it seems—you responded by the thousands.

When you were asked to "Buy a Bond", you came back with millions.

What you are asked to do today will seem very simple compared to what you did then—and therein lies the danger. If it seems too easy to be helpful, remember that it is none the less important—none the less patriotic.

Employers everywhere have been asked to put patriotism above profit—humanity above everything.

Many have answered, and many more are answering, often at a money loss to themselves, by signing an agreement to shorten their labor hours, distribute work among more people, and pay a stipulated wage. The purpose—to end unemployment, restore the buying power of the people, and hasten recovery.

These employers are helping that neighbor of yours go back to work—and making it possible for those children you heard about to eat at regular intervals again.

Your part... your easy, important part... is to patronize those employers, those businesses, who have signed to do their part.

You'll know them by the Blue Eagle banners displayed in their stores—banners like the one shown above. You'll know them by the signs that say "We Do Our Part." And that, Mr. and Mrs. St. Louisian, is your part.

The honor of dealing the final death blow to the Four Horsemen of Adversity—Unemployment, Hunger, Poverty, Fear—has been given to you.

The New Deal has come up to you, and we express to you the wishes of your President.

Do Your Part!

When your mailman hands you a Pledge card like the one shown on this page, sign it and mail it immediately. Help St. Louis men and women march back to work.

Cards' Game Rained Out; New York Still Cold Toward Giants

By J. Roy Stockton,

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The Cardinals' fourth and final game of the series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, in which Tex Carlton was to be tried for his fifteenth victory of the season, and the Cardinals were in their tenth in twelve games, was postponed on account of rain.

The St. Louis team has been set on a pretty fast pace, with nine wins and two lost, but even that has failed the Red Birds to do any real gaining, as the Giants have eight of their last 11, the Boston Braves burning up the league, in 15 victories in their last 18 games, and gaining only two more on the Giants, though they have climbed to third position.

It is strange as it may seem, the Giants, despite their substantial place margin and the fact that they have held first place consistently, have not convinced the ball men of New York that they are a championship team, and the National experts are emphasizing the necessity of piling up as many as possible during the season, and pointing to the end of the road as the goal of the Giants in the drive for the stretch.

"So far," he said, "we haven't felt the strain. We haven't tightened up. The trick now is to stay loose, to be on our toes. If we could just forget we were leading the league, it would be great. But it is difficult, especially when you are approaching the end of the race and you are keyed up by expectations of winning."

"Our thing is, we will not do anything that is to count on our competitors to lose. We must win by winning, not by hoping someone else will lose."

SEEDED PAIR ADVANCES IN DOUBLES EVENT

By the Associated Press.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22.—Berkley Bell, New York, and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., fifth seeded team in the national doubles tennis tournament at Longwood, today became the first qualifiers for the second round play by defeating P. R. Spencer and A. S. D'Arcy of Boston, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

S. P. Young and D. S. Freshwater of England, the first of the six foreign teams to go into action, overcame Hal Surface, Kansas City, and Samuel Lee, Berkeley, Cal., 6-6, 6-2, 6-6, 6-2, in their first round clash.

Ellis Vines and Keith Giedhill, the defending champions, made a straight set start at the expense of Lieuts. J. M. Farrin and Gerald W. Smith, the Navy team from Portsmout, N. H., by a 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 margin and the top-seeded foreign team, Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath of Australia, gained the second round when Thomas Flynn of Baystate, L. I., and John Ray of Cambridge, defected.

Fred Perry, hero of Englands Davis cup victory, and his countryman, Frank H. Wilde, conqueror Armand Bruneau and Francis Bowden of New York, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, as they made their post-round opening.

First round: Berkley Bell, New York, and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

Bryan Houston, Atlanta, and Kari Kammer, Ott, and R. A. Covington, Ashville, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

D. S. Freshwater, England defeated Hal Surface, Kansas City, and Samuel Lee, Berkeley, Cal., 6-6, 6-2, 6-6, 6-2.

Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, Australia, won by default from Thomas Flynn, Baystate, L. I., and John Ray, Cambridge.

Frederick J. Paine and Frank H. Wilde, and Armand Bruneau, New York, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

SUN ARCHER IS STAKE WINNER AT SARATOGA

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS RACE-TRACK, N. Y., Aug. 22.—A heavy track, showy weather and a succession of upsets were the order here this afternoon. The first four favorites got little more than clumps of mud from the hoofs of the winners, and the biggest calamity for the talent came in the Channing handicap, mile and a furlong feature event. That saw the leader of the race, Chuck Klein, high class mare Tambour, a sprawling third in 5. She finished a sprawling third in the bad footing, while victory went to W. S. G. Kilmer's three-year-old Sun Archer, held at 4 to 1. The colt just lasted to nose out Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Snapback, a late addition to the entries. Tambour was third, two lengths back.

She had run the mud furrows in 1:56 flat to collect the price of $670 which went to the winner.

After the race Jockey Willis Prunk, who rode Snapback, claimed foul against the winner, but the original result stood. Sun Archer might have carried Snapback a little wider after leaving the back stretch. Tambour kept fairly close to the two leaders and loomed as a prospect after straightening out for the stretch drive, but she could not make up ground in the final drive. Snapback was wearing Sun Archer down at the end.

Giants Sure to Win If They Forget Big Lead, Terry Says

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—ILL TERRY thinks the New York Giants are sure pennant winners if they can forget the big lead already piled up in the National League race.

"So far," he said, "we haven't felt the strain. We haven't tightened up. The trick now is to stay loose, to be on our toes. If we could just forget we were leading the league, it would be great. But it is difficult, especially when you are approaching the end of the race and you are keyed up by expectations of winning."

And that despite the fact that no New York National League team has won a flag since 1924."

Terry is one of those peculiar types who still think it is smart and surly," another columnist recently wrote.

Team Goes on Winning.

And still the Giants go on winning, and Terry's pitchers keep on winning shutouts and low-score wins. And, despite the lack of power in the big city, the team must be recognized as the National League in the world series.

For there is much likelihood that the Giants will have any sustained winning streaks. When there is a ball and a Schumacher and a smile, not to mention Fitzgerald on the staff, there is not going to be any long string of defeats.

Terry, too, must be given credit recognizing the fact that Parsons and Schumacher were popular stars. He didn't worry about his pitchers last winter. He left away Bill Walker and Jim Joyce. He hoped that Travis would be a great hitter when he is back as a shortstop; but when Travis couldn't make the grade, Terry had confidence in young Andy Ryan.

VINES PUZZLED, NOT WORRIED, OVER HIS RECENT FAILURE

THINKS HE HAS GOOD CHANCE TO RETAIN HIS U. S.
SINGLES HONORS

By the Associated Press.
BROOKLYN, Mass., Aug. 22.—Four straight defeats have made Ellsworth Vines, the national tennis champion, puzzled but not worried. The lanky Pasadena, who won both the American and British titles before reaching his majority last September, was musing over his prospects here yesterday.

Vines appeared as if he had forgotten the five-set defeat James Crawford of Australia gave him in the Wimbledon final this year and his Davis Cup failure against Fred Perry and H. W. "Bunny" Austin in the interzone finals with England. But the memory of Frank X. Shields' straight-set victory over him at Newport last week still was painful.

"I still can't understand that match with Shields," he said. "When I went onto the Casino court I felt that I would beat Shields. I have always beaten him and I thought I had my shot going well enough to beat him again. But I couldn't do anything right."

"At least I proved to myself that I could play good tennis for three days in a row and now it remains to be seen if I can maintain a high standard of play for an entire week. I am all right physically, so I guess it's a question of mental adjustment.

Says His Chances Are Good.

"I think that my chances of winning the American singles title at Forest Hills next month are good as those of any American."

Tennis observers, who accompanied Vines through Europe and with him to Newport last week, were not very hopeful about his chances if he meets Crawford in the national singles tournament. And they considered Perry and Shields only a little less dangerous to Vines' title-defending hopes.

The draw, made with 32 teams, was topped by Vines and Gledhill and seven other American pairs were seeded. Crawford and Vivian McGrath, the "two-fisted" backward stroker, head the list of foreign seeded teams with Perry and Frank H. D. Wille of England second.

Crawford, who has won the Australian and Dutch singles titles this season, revealed some of his party's plans while in the United States. Following upon the national singles early next month, the Australians will engage a picked American team in Chicago as a Century of Progress feature. Crawford and McGrath intend to sail for home from San Francisco on Sept. 19, leaving Adrian, Quist and Don Trumbull behind to play in the Pacific Coast championships at San Francisco, Sept. 30 to Oct. 8.

LITTLE BROWN JUG,
MISSING SINCE 1931, BACK AT MICHIGAN

By the Associated Press.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 21.—The little brown jug, long the prize of victory between Michigan and Minnesota football teams, missing since just before the Wolverine-Gopher game of 1931, has been found.

In a clump of bushes on East University avenue, near the medical building at the university here, the golden trophy was found today by Al Thomas, a brother of Lorenzo Thomas, groundkeeper at Ferry Field.

The jug quite apparently was placed in the bushes within the last few days.

When the demijohn, its sides carrying the scores of numerous Michigan-Minnesota grid contests, disappeared two years ago, various "acquisitions" were passed back and forth, but it remained in hiding.

It will be the prize again when the Gophers and Wolverines meet here on Nov. 18.

MIILLIUS TEAM VICTOR IN SOFTBALL GAME

The Millius team defeated the Boxes aggregation, 4 to 2, in the feature of a double-headed in the at the North Side Park. In the first game the Northwestern C. girls trounced the Martins, 15 to 14, in an extra inning of play.

In games scheduled tonight the S-K outfit will meet the Salvatores in the girls' game, to be followed by a contest between the Nightingales and the Frieden-Barcas team.

CHUCK KLEIN, Phillies' outfielder, crossing the plate on the second of three home runs he hit in a double header with the Reds, at Philadelphia, last Saturday. The round-trippers raised Klein's total for the season to 23 and enabled him to pass Willie Berger, of the Braves, for the N. L. lead.

Fox Appear to Be 'People's Choice' for First Base on Ruth's All-America Team

Athletics' Star Leads American League in Batting and Has Hit Most Home Runs—Gehrig and Terry Also Get Consideration.

By Damon Kerby

Jimmy Foxx, the American League's leading batter, is the popular choice at this time for the first-base position on this year's Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth All-America Team.

And not without reason. In addition to pacing the field in the American League batting race, Foxx has driven in more runs than any other player in the American and has hit more home runs than any other.

The heavy-hitting first baseman from Maryland was Foxx's choice at first base last year. His popularity among those who already have entered this year's contest indicates that a majority of the fans think he will repeat this season.

Mention of Foxx, who, individually, is one of the attractions at Sportman's Park today, does not exhaust the "list of crack first basemen who are in the running for a berth on the team—not while Lou Gehrig and Bill Terry are still around.

Terry Having Good Year.

Considering the fact that Terry has the worries of a managership on his shoulders, he is having a fine year. With a batting average of .345, he is second only to Klein among National League hitters. It must be recorded, however, that while Foxx has driven in 126 runs in 110 games, Terry had batted across only 38 runs in 81 games. Terry was out early in the season with an injured wrist.

Gehrig, still a valuable player, is not breaking any records with his .315 mark in hitting, and as compared to 38, home runs for Foxx, has only 20.

SHUTE EXPECTS TO MEET GOODMAN FOR "WORLD GOLF TITLE."

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Her- man Denmors Shute, or just plain "Denny," said yesterday he prob- ably will meet Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the United States Open golf titleholder, in a match for the "world's championship" at Miami in February.

The newly-crowned British Open golf champion, known for his fragility of speech, made the statement upon his triumphal return from England to this city and the Llanerch Country Club, where he is profes- sional.

"Arrange-ments for such a title-test have not yet been completed," he said. "But I think the match will take place at the Miami club, which the fans as a prospective member of Ruth's team may also be seen—a fellow named Grove, whom they do say, has what it takes to make a pitcher."

Rules Governing Babe Ruth's All-America Team Competition

THE contest is open to everyone, except one of the Post-Dispatch and their families.

Entries will close Aug. 31 at midnight, and letters bearing postmark up to that time will be considered eligible.

Babe Ruth is not eligible.

Prizes will be selected on the basis of their play in the 1933 season only. Performances of previous years do not count.

A player may be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has played such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field unless he has played there at least once in 1933.

Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field unless he has played there at least once in 1933.

In addition to naming the players to conform to those chosen by Ruth, contestants must arrange them in the same batting order as Babe Ruth. The Babe has agreed to place his choices in the order in which he thinks they should go to the plate.

An explanatory letter of not more than 250 words must accompany the selection and will be passed upon by the judges. This is as important as selecting the players. Babe himself will write an explanation of his choices. (Write on one side of the paper only and make your selections on a separate sheet.)

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight other players, one of each position. Only one team may be submitted by each contestant.

No corrections will be accepted once an entry has been received and filed.

Entries will be selected on the basis of their play in the 1933 season only. Performances of previous years do not count.

A player may be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has played such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field unless he has played there at least once in 1933.

In addition to naming the players to conform to those chosen by Ruth, contestants must arrange them in the same batting order as Babe Ruth. The Babe has agreed to place his choices in the order in which he thinks they should go to the plate.

An explanatory letter of not more than 250 words must accompany the selection and will be passed upon by the judges. This is as important as selecting the players. Babe himself will write an explanation of his choices. (Write on one side of the paper only and make your selections on a separate sheet.)

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight

CITY WILL HAVE HALF HOLIDAY FOR BIG NRA PARADE

Thousands to Take Part in March Led by Mayor
Dickmann Tomorrow Afternoon.

MILITARY PLANES TO GIVE SHOW

Parking on Downtown Streets to Be Barred and Trolleys Routed to Avoid Congestion.

St. Louis will observe a holiday tomorrow afternoon in order to participate or witness the Blue Eagle parade of the St. Louis Committee of the National Recovery Administration.

Starting at 1:35 o'clock from Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, the procession of thousands of marchers, 40 bands and drum and bugle corps and 20 floats will pass through Washington avenue, Broadway and Market street, disbanding after a two-and-a-half-mile march ending at a reviewing stand at Fourteenth and Market streets.

More than a dozen military airplanes and numerous private planes will fly over the parade route shortly after 3:30, giving a 30-minute demonstration. The planes will include seven or eight army ships from Scott Field in command of Capt. William C. Goldsborough, three or more of the Thirty-fifth Division Aviation, Missouri National Guard, commanded by Maj. Phil Love, and three of the air unit of the Naval Reserves, in command of Capt. Frank E. Weld.

Dickmann to Lead Parade.

Mayor Dickmann, who declared a half-holiday, will act as grand marshal, taking his place in the reviewing stand after leading the procession in the parade.

Street Commissioner J. J. McMahon, chairman of the Parade Committee, found the procession had grown to such proportions yesterday that he was unable to accept applications of more organizations to take part.

"For this reason," he said, "we want it understood that the failure of any business to take part is not an indication they are not supporting the recovery program or that it is not want to have a part in the parade."

The St. Louis County Court and Mayors of the larger county towns declared tomorrow afternoon a holiday. County towns will be represented in the parade.

Gerk Bars Parking.

Chief of Police Gerk announced that no parking would be permitted after 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the area bounded by Walnut street, Franklin avenue, Fourth street and Jefferson avenue. Because of the congestion he suggested that automobiles be left at home. Police will be on a 24-hour shift tomorrow.

Street car and bus lines entering the downtown district will be rerouted during the parade and service cars will avoid the streets through which the parade passes.

808 More Agreements.

The St. Louis office of the Department of Commerce today received 808 signed copies of the President's voluntary blanket re-employment agreement, bringing the total received from Missouri employers to 50,170.

The office is preparing to receive and file consumers' pledges which will be distributed to homes by postmen beginning Thursday. The signer of the pledge card agrees to patronize businesses displaying the blue eagle insignia, which indicates the terms of the President's re-employment agreement have been complied with.

Women to Seek Signers.

Plans for encouraging the signing of consumer pledge cards were made yesterday by the St. Louis division of the St. Louis Committee of the National Recovery Administration at a meeting at the Scouge-Barney music hall.

Beginning Monday, women will station themselves in buildings at the direction of the following committee chairmen: Retail stores, Miss Eva Marie Schopp; Theaters, Mrs.

ASKS FOR CORN PRODUCTS TAX TO PROTECT WHEAT FLOUR

Millers' Federation Officer Requests Secretary Wallace to "Re-consider Relationship."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—George Livingston, executive vice-president of the Millers' National Federation, today requested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to place a compensatory tax on corn products used for human consumption to prevent a reduction in the use of wheat flour.

Mr. Livingston asked for immediate consideration of the matter with a view to imposing such a tax as would "restore the normal price relationship between the products of wheat and corn."

"Since the imposition of the processing tax on wheat on July 9, 1933, when flour millers have been observing a constantly increasing demand on the part of consumers, particularly in certain sections of the country, to substitute corn products for wheat products," he said. "The extent of this substitution has now reached the point where it threatens seriously to reduce the consumption of wheat flour."

INQUEST OPENS IN KILLING OF SIX IN INDIANA CRASH

Driver of Truck Says He Was Blinded by Lights When Machine Hit Bus.

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 22.—Bright lights were blamed here today by Harold Schaab, 33 years old, of Chicago, at a Coroner's inquest for the collision near here early Saturday which cost the lives of six persons and the serious injury of six others.

Schaab told the Coroner he was the driver of the truck and trailer which sideswiped an improvised bus. He also admitted leaving the scene without assisting the victims. Because of the bright lights, however, he insisted responsibility for the accident rested with the driver of the other vehicle, which contained 50 passengers.

George Schaab, a stepson, who was riding with Schaab, gave almost the same testimony. The youth also said there were no green lights or side markers to indicate that the approaching machine was a truck.

Coroner B. J. Bolka said he would question other witnesses before making a ruling. Meanwhile he ordered the two men held in the county jail.

HAVANA HARBOR
STRIKE IS SETTLED

All Port Workers Back to Work After Three Weeks' Tieup—Disorders Quietly Suppressed.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Aug. 22.—Forty thousand persons gave a noisy welcome to Col. Carlos Mendieta and Col. Roberto Penate today when they returned to Cuba from the exile to which they were sent leading the quickly-suppressed revolt against the Machado government in August, 1931.

The return of the exiles shared in importance with the resumption of normal activity in Havana's harbor where business had been paralyzed by a strike which started three weeks ago, before the ousting of President Machado.

At 7 a. m. all port workers turned to their jobs. There were few small disorders at the Wabash and United Fruit docks, but they were quickly suppressed by harbor police.

Machado Meets Exiles.

Col. Mendieta and Col. Penate came back from New York aboard the Morro Castle. From the dock they went straight to the Presidential Palace where they embraced Machado's successor, Provisional President Carlos Manuel Cespedes.

With the President they appeared on a palace balcony and great shouts went up from the thousands of onlookers. The Presidential secretary, Raul de Cardenas, addressed the crowd.

From the palace the returning exiles went to their homes, followed by many flag-draped automobiles which passed through the harbor cheering. Many persons, including exiles, came to the exterior to be present.

The newspaper Union Nacionalista, Col. Mendieta's organ, responded this morning and the edition was quickly exhausted.

Port workers at a union meeting last night approved a motion calling for continued pressure to bring about the deportation of Mathias Molanhy, an officer of the United Fruit Co., and an American citizen. This position was taken on ground that he had steadfastly opposed the strikers.

More Machado Men Killed.

Members of the ABC Secret Service, soldiers and police continued rounding up Machado followers while the War Department held a policy that all in hiding should surrender to authorities lest they be victims of mob violence.

Twenty or 30 followers of Machado are reported to have surrendered to ABC agents and army and navy forces have been sent to get them.

The men are well armed and somewhere near Bahia Honda, the group are said to be holding out.

Guillermo Urrutia, former commissioner of the Havana Central District, killed himself last night in a Lawton suburb after ABC members had surrounded his home and questioned him.

Lawton, a university student, who is accused of participating in terrorist acts, surrounded the house in which he had hidden.

José R. Barcelo, former Governor of Oriente Province, surrendered to soldiers who surrounded his home here. He was taken to army headquarters and questioned. Only ABC guards in Santiago prevent policeman Hechevarria from being lynched after he had been arrested.

Herrera Asks for Guarantees.

Former Secretary of War Alberto Herrera called a Provisional President Cespedes asking for guarantees for his property, but ABC members searched his home and documents relating to the Machado Government. They said they found no documents indicating the Machado Government planned to pay him money to supplement Cuba's meager currency, possibly for paying governmental employees' back salaries.

The criminal section of Cuba's Supreme Court will hear evidence Friday to determine whether Machado should be extradited from Nassau, the Bahamas, to stand trial in Cuba.

Other trials in the case include Orestes Ferrara, former Secretary of State; Octavio Zubizarreta, former Secretary of Interior; and Octavio Averhoff, former Secretary of the Treasury.

A Moratorium on Dishonesty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN THE national recovery program, the President has record and deed given evidence of his faith in the honesty of the American people. How well that is deserved remains to be seen. It appears from general observation that the moral fibre of our citizens has undergone a severe change in the last generation or two. The man whose word is as good as his bond, and the man who builds his business on the basis of a fair exchange for the consumer's dollar, are fast becoming extinct. The principles brought to American business by the founders of our Republic have, through lack of training or the gradual inculcation of an inferior element, fallen into disuse. The ruling passion of the day seems to be to get as you can for as little effort as possible. When the inner workings of those whose business rules are made to beat the game are exposed, young Americans and the man on the street reply, "I'd do the same if I had the chance, wouldn't you?"

When President Roosevelt asked for co-operation of every citizen to make the recovery program a success, he did not expect mills and factories would be immediately started at full time on low wages and cheap material in order to make a dollar profit when their codes became effective. It does not explain the immediate rise in the price of necessities long before wages were increased; he did not intend the farmer should plow up his poor land, leaving the best of his crop to produce high priced cotton; he did not suppose employers would notify their workers that they must now produce as much in 40 hours as they formerly produced in the longer week. Possibly what America needs most was best expressed by an able churchman when he said, "What we need most is a moratorium on dishonesty." At any rate, he has succeeded in the national recovery movement will demand a high measure of honesty on the part of American business. It may easily be said that its success or failure will be an accurate gauge of the willingness of the American people to play fair with one another—a standard before all the world branding American business as honorable or degenerate.

JOSEPH REDMOND.

If That Be Socialism—

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PERHAPS J. H. Jones has the cart before the horse when he worries about business not being able to employ labor if business is not successful. Business will succeed when it provides better living conditions for labor.

By successful business, he probably means business which is providing luxury for a flock of parasites who do no more than sit back and watch their money work for them, letting the laborers and office force really do the work.

In the correction of the above condition, by definition of the successful business as one which provides a decent living for the worker, be Socialism, let's have Socialism. And if Roosevelt champions such a definition, may he be the first of a long line of such champions.

A Nurse's Letter.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A NURSE at a local hospital asked me to send in the following letter. Fear of losing her position kept her from signing her name:

"There has been some talk of a delegation going to Washington to request that hospitals be NOT included in the NRA. The arguments are good—just as good as those used by the corporations making the same request.

"But is it fair that those who are directly and indirectly connected with the care of the sick should NOT be benefited by the New Deal?" Practically everyone employed in a hospital works at high tension. Inefficiency, apathy and carelessness in a hospital may spell murder. Yet the placid public seems perfectly willing to countenance an over-fatigued force in the employ of practically every hospital in the U. S. A.

"Authorities are unanimous in stating that all industrial accidents happen just before closing time, because the employes are tired. Many people have read about the night before what at 6 a.m. gave paralytic instead of magnesium sulphate, attributed the accident to fatigue? The two medicines look exactly alike.

"Those employed in hospitals should unite, not in professional unions perhaps—the menials, professional persons and everyone else. Don't let that delegation win."

PANSY B. WALDRON.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I SEE by the papers that the Anrysians are again being killed, after an interval of many centuries, during which they have been permitted to remain undisturbed, except by archeologists and their kind. Now let the Babylonians and the Scythians watch their step.

E. R. PAILOU.

Recovery's Test on the Industrial Front

This time, at least, the journals of opinion have not been broken up. Workers must not be compelled to join company unions. They must not be forbidden to join any union, local or international, radical or conservative, which they care to join. They must not be dismissed for union membership. And when they send the representative of their organization to meet the employer, the employer must do business with him. So says the law.

It was scarcely to be expected that its policy would be embraced with enthusiasm by the reactionary industrial leadership which has so long and so bitterly resisted effective labor representation. It was not surprising, therefore, that one industrial group after another attempted to circumvent it. Steel undertook to substitute for the independent union the more tractable company union. The code proposed by the automobile manufacturers gives them the power to "continue the open shop policy under which the selection, retention and advancement of employees will be on the basis of individual merit, without regard to their affiliation with any labor or other organization." The non-union coal operators have proposed that "no employer shall be required to deal jointly with other employers or with representatives of any employees other than his own." So industry has attempted to rewrite the law.

These developments, of course, do not close the matter. The non-union coal operators have already indicated their intention of standing by their open shop code. The automobile manufacturers may take similar action. The President has co-operated with Gen. Johnson in reaching agreement with the steel industry upon a 90-day trial code, in which, presumably, the company union is abrogated. The remaining codes will not be permitted to hang fire much longer. Either the employers will capitulate or the President will prescribe for them codes which will include in their provisions unqualified recognition of the right of collective bargaining. He has the power to do this, and there can be no question that he will use it.

Employers, on the other hand, have continued to oppose independent organization; have attempted to set up unions of their own. It was such a program, carried out by the H. C. Frick Coke Co., a subsidiary of the United States Corporation, which precipitated the strike of 15,000 soft coal miners in Pennsylvania. Elsewhere, employers operating under codes have been accused of violating their provisions. They may deduct both present and accumulated store bills from the workers' pay envelopes. Such action will prevent the code from accomplishing its purpose of increasing labor purchasing power and thereby stimulating consumer demand.

The company towns are dominated by company police. They exclude outsiders. They forbid public meetings. Workers who join the union need not be fired from their jobs. They can merely be evicted from their homes, refused supplies at the company store, spied upon, threatened and abused by the company police, until they depart from the community. It is fantastic, under such conditions, to talk about the right of workers "to organize and bargain collectively, through representatives of their own choosing."

Sixteen civic organizations of Western Pennsylvania, at the hearing on the bituminous code, petitioned the NRA to meet this situation by eliminating the company store, the company house and the company police; to secure a moratorium on past debts for rents and food, with provision for gradual repayment; to insist that wages be paid in cash; and to take steps to secure municipal freedom for the company towns. These provisions could be written into the coal code. Failing this, they could be appended to it in additional stipulations made on the authority of the President. Unless something of the sort is done, there is grave danger that the bituminous code will have little meaning in this area.

The NRA, clearly, could not permit widespread industrial warfare to endanger the whole movement for recovery. So it acted, promptly and effectively.

The coal miners were persuaded to return to work pending the settlement of the problem of representation in the bituminous code. A national board of arbitration was created, under the chairmanship of Senator Wagner, for the adjudication of other differences. The textile code was amended to provide a permanent mechanism for the settlement of disputes, including plant worker and employer committees, state committees and a Cotton Textiles National Industrial Relations Board, which is to serve as a court of final appeal. And, finally, the President and the advisory committee of the NRA made a public pledge for the preservation of industrial peace.

This action has been severely criticized by the liberal weekly. They do not believe that the administration should have asked the laborers to return to work until it had definitely committed itself against the company union. They do not believe that the right to strike should be surrendered into the coal code. Failing this, they could be appended to it in additional stipulations made on the authority of the President. Unless something of the sort is done, there is grave danger that the bituminous code will have little meaning in this area.

Fifteen thousand coal miners have gone back to work in response to an appeal to support the President in his drive for recovery. Implicit in this plea was the promise that the administration would safeguard the workers' right to independent and effective representation. To accept a code which provided for a company union set-up or one which qualified in any way the right of collective action would be a breach of faith. It would forfeit the support of labor in the whole recovery program. This is a risk which the President need not and, we are confident, will not take.

WHAT ABOUT IT, GOVERNOR?

We call Gov. Park's attention to what our neighbor State, Illinois, is doing to co-operate with the Federal public works program. Gov. Horner announces Illinois will seek approval of projects totaling $100,000,000. He has put the State's Unemployment Commission to work to select projects of greatest merit, and so quickly is the task going forward that the Governor predicts Illinois will be among the first to launch public works construction under the NRA.

AN earnest effort is being made to make public works construction state-wide, and the list of projects includes 95 down-state cities and districts. Many of the projects are in such form that work can be started as soon as Federal approval is granted, in accordance with President Roosevelt's warning that the country must not experience another winter like the last one. First consideration is being given to construction public works to improve public health, such as water and sewer systems.

Missouri is entitled to from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 of Federal funds for public works, but Gov. Park has failed so far to take action. All he has done is to appoint a public works committee and, if that committee has made a report, it has not been published. Long before now, the State administration should have been canvassing Missouri counties, towns and cities to discover their public works needs, and gathering them into one great State program to submit to Secretary Ickes and President Roosevelt.

Only one more month of summer remains and, if Missouri hopes to relieve unemployment by public works before winter sets in, we shall have to have fast and aggressive action. What about it, Gov. Park?

WHAT THE STARS ARE SAYING.

It may be well, perhaps, while the research urge is pecking at us, to consult the astrologers and find out, if we can, just what they think about the situation.

Our favorite seer, Prof. Winn, feels that the prospects are bright. As it happens, he is, in this instance, the spokesman of a special interest—the tribe of Sagittarius, meaning people who were born between Nov. 26 and Dec. 17. The outlook is rosy for that crowd.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. How bad a bombshell the steel men threw into NRA when they snubbed Bill Green and the American Federation of Labor few people realize.

After the steel men said they would not sit in a conference if Green were present, organized labor threatened to quit NRA cold. This included some of General Johnson's ablest advisers—Donald Richberg, his counsel; Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the Labor Advisory Board; Edward F. McGrady, chief labor adviser.

They decided that if big business could not deal with labor, labor would not deal with big business. And they handed General Johnson an ultimatum. Unless the Government forced co-operation from the steel magnates, they said, NRA could do without labor.

While the ultimatum was being issued, Mr. Perkins was laboring with the steel men. She asked them to say nothing of their snub to Green. And they were more surprised than anyone else when they read the incident in the morning papers.

An open break of this kind had been feared by both Johnson and Roosevelt. Steel and coal men have been more hard-boiled than any others in taboos organized labor. Hitherto their opposition had been as carefully screened as possible. They were careful to avoid an open break.

So when that break came, organized labor saw its chance. Hence the ultimatum to Johnson.

Loss of Green and his organization meant a body blow to Johnson. So there ensued a midnight meeting. Late into the morning hours the Recovery Administrator labored with the U. S. L. chief. Finally Green agreed to prevent the labor walk-out in return for Johnson's pledge that labor would be protected in the steel code.

Goodwill.

THE flight of Gen. Balbo to Chicago, the visit of the Italian naval officers, the sending of Italy's ablest young ambassador to Washington, is not just accident.

Behind this is a drive for American friendship and support. And behind that are two other things. Most important is an Italian plan to revise the peace treaties in favor of Mussolini. Hungary and Rome. The second is a concerted treaty with the United States which will provide also for virtual cancellation of the Italian war debt.

In both of these Mussolini is banking on American support.

DR. ALEXANDER TRAUTMAN, NOTED ALIENIST, DIES AT 90

Specialist in Nervous Diseases Before He Was 25; Former Instructor at Wisconsin U.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The death of Dr. Alexander Trautman, noted alienist and nerve specialist, at his summer home in Chautauqua, N. Y., Mrs. Boyd, who was about 70 years old, had been ill for several weeks.

Her body is being brought to St. Louis by her son, W. W. Boyd Jr. The funeral will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at his home, 4470 Westminster place. Mrs. Boyd is survived also by a son, Frank D. Boyd of Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Hilda D. Kauffman, living in Virginia, and a brother, Harvey G. Dunham of Los Angeles.

The Rev. Dr. Boyd was a prominent public figure in St. Louis during his two pastorate at Second Baptist Church, the first of which began in 1877. He died in 1924. Mrs. Boyd was active in civic and club work and was a former president of the Wednesday Club. She died at the Parkview Hotel before going to her summer home.

ASHES SCATTERED IN CANYON AS MUSIC TEACHER WISHED

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Aug. 22.—A death bed request made in June was carried out Sunday in the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone when the ashes of Miss Maude Hamilton, 63 years old, of St. Louis, were scattered from Inspiration Point there at 2000 feet above the Yellowstone River.

Services were held by the Rev. L. D. Smith, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, while Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver of St. Louis carried the ashes in an urn to the canyon. The wedding of Miss Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver was on June 29.

PLAYGROUND CONTEST

CUP WON BY BOY, 9

Four Others Get Prizes in Seventh Annual Back Yard Competition.

John Koberman Jr., 9 year old, 4329 Oregon avenue, won first prize a silver loving cup given by Mayor Dickmann, in the seventh annual back yard playground contest, sponsored by the Park and Playgrounds Association and the Child Conservation Conference.

About 75 children entered the contest. Their playgrounds were judged by members of the Child Conservation Conference on the basis of construction and design, safety, cost, originality and usefulness. More points were given to playgrounds containing home-made equipment than to those with purchased apparatus.

Koberman's playground, attracting children from homes as far as three blocks away, contains a neat one-room doll house, a seesaw, log cabbin blocks, a hammock and toys of all sorts. Koberman, a fifth grade pupil in St. Anthony's School, entered the contest for the first time this year.

Winners of the other four prizes will receive home-made equipment. Highest list is Edward Sweney, 5753 Bryon place, are entering Mrs. Dobson's mother, Mrs. Hillman, 9 year old, a pupil at St. Louis, John the Baptist School. In the rear of his home at 4729 Alexander street he presides over a home-made see-saw, a swing, a doll house and a nine-hole miniature golf course.

A 6-year-old Negro girl, Laura Nelson, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Nelson, 4338 Bryon avenue, received third prize. The feature of her playground, which daily attracts about 45 children, is a wading pool 14 feet square. Boys and girls use the pool on alternate days. In cool weather they find time to play on the slide and swing, both built by the girl's father, a member of the department of psychology at St. Louis Teachers' College. Mrs. Nelson is a former kindergarten teacher.

Miss Christine Vieths, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Vieths, 6632 Cecil avenue, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. James Peterson, 7611 Wilton, Conn. She left St. Louis two weeks ago and will remain away for several weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner of the Woodlands, Ladue road, are expected home the last of the week from Harbor Point, Mich.

Miss Jane and Miss Mary Marshall, mother and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David D. McElroy, 5418 Vernon, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Voigt, directs activities. Last year she received a plaque for having the best set of homemade games. Most of these are still in use, including a bean bag board, ring-me-game, baseball throwing and checkers and mill. In addition there is a sandbox, horse shoe court, pool table and a toy store.

Carleen Schulz, 7 years old, 5544 Clemens avenue, and their daughter, Miss Marjorie, have returned from a visit to Chicago where they attended the fair.

The prizes will be awarded late this week at the playground nearest the home of each winner by members of the family.

THE wedding of Miss Marian W. Lummaghi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Walker, 201 Bonnard street, 30 Windermer place, left a few days ago for a visit of two weeks in the East. She will be the guest of relatives in New York and Boston.

Miss Hamilton, who had been a music teacher at the Missouri School for the Blind for 40 years, died June 9 at St. Luke's Hospital.

She had spent her vacations for many years in Yellowstone Park where she was in charge of lodges dining rooms. The request that her ashes be scattered from Inspiration Point was made in her will.

OPERA SAYS FAREWELL WITH "DESERT SONG"

Most of the Stars of Summer Season Take Part in Final Offering.

THE DESERT SONG, with music by Sigfried Romberg and book by Otto Harbach, opened at the Municipal Opera Company last night as the final attraction of the 1933 season in Forest Park, with the following cast:

Sid Eli Kar ... Allen Jones
Maurice ... Larry Rich
Edmund ... Jack Sheehan
Capt. Paul Fontaine ... Clifford Chisolm
Azur! ... Nancy McCord
Sergeant ... Charlie Cheever
Sergeant ... Robert ... Marion Claire
Margot Bonvalot ... George Caley
Gaston Birebaud ... Doris Patston
Sue ... Helen ... Catey
All Red ... All ... Joseph Macaulay
Clementine ... Hope Emerson
Nina ... Victor Camros
Hadie ... Nick Long Jr.
Specialty Dances

favorites also, for the cast boasted of Joseph Macaulay, Larry Rich, Charles Chesney, Marie Starner and Frank Horn and an opportunity was presented, late in the show, for Nick Long Jr. to do one of his acrobatic dances which simply brought down the house.

"The Desert Song," with its familiar and tuneful music, as most theater-goers will recall, gives the chorus ensemble many chances to shine and the carefully trained St. Louis boys and girls in "the line" added fresh laurels to their collection last night so that all in all, this final week of the Opera marks the high spots of the summer and bids fair to at least equal the attendance marks set by "The Cat and the Fiddle" and "The Student Prince."

The story of the musical drama need hardly be retold at this late date. It is set on the edge of the Sahara Desert where the French are waging war with the Riffs and where Margot Bonvalot has followed the army from Paris to be near her sweetheart, the unromantic

Capt. Paul Fontaine. How she is sung into the heart of the mysterious leader of the tribesmen, known from his robes and his sudden appearance as "The Red Shadow."

And although Municipal Opera

has presented the Romberg-Harbach musical drama in three other seasons, Watson Barrett has provided an entirely new and gorgeous setting for the present performance and this week's show is bright and new and entirely lovely.

The final performance will take place next Sunday night.

BONDS IMPROVE IN
THE LATE SESSION

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Some bonds of rail and other classes firmed in the late session, but the last hour's upturn was offset by early losses of point or two points, and most financial declines were recovered in the net gain time. Trading was slack except in a few new issues. Commodity issues had some following, particularly the International Telephone & Telegraph, Western Union and other telephone companies, a point at one time. Utility debentures scored foreign gains at one time. Foreign loans were without important feature, with prior interest. U. S. Government bonds were quite modest of day.

LISTEN, WORLD!
by Elsie Robinson

Love Is Not a Continuous Experience.

LOVE is not a continuous experience. You cannot always feel warmly even toward those you profess to love best—your nearest and dearest. Inevitably, there come times when your heart seems empty and apart. A strange indifference sweeps over you. You are no longer enthusiastic, nor sympathetic . . . nor even tender. Indeed, you are incapable of any feeling but a vague hostility which is apt to flame into active resentment if others press too close.

An hour ago, this familiar face seemed as near and dear as your own flesh. Now it seems as alien as any stranger's. And you feel faint, which yesterday you did not notice. These little mannerisms . . . irritating stupidity and clumsiness—

Suddenly you're frightened. What has happened? Your heart feels frozen . . . finished. Is love really over? Has the glamour gone, forever? You're sure it has. You couldn't possibly feel it again if all the signs of love were left. Nor could any love survive having seen them like this—as disagreeable strangers.

Yes, you are sure that love is over! And a dreadful loneliness falls upon you. Life no longer seems worth while. For now you will have to go on alone—always alone. There will be no one to understand you—no one to care what happens to you. For you, yourself, no longer care. You are cold to everyone . . . everyone is to you. How horrible it all is! You hate life—such a fleeting dream. You hate life—such a purposeless struggle. You wish that had never been born—

So, for a space, you walk alone—bitter and hopeless. Then suddenly, without reason or warning, love comes flooding back! You see your dear ones through the old sweet glamour. You long to serve them. You no longer notice or resent their foolish faults. You love them . . . that is enough! Your heart is warm again and all the world is bright.

But why is this? How can this be? Can we really love—yet know such periods of indifference and disgust . . . or even spite? The answer's simple—

WE LOVE LIKE THIS BECAUSE LOVE IS, AS YET, AN IMPERFECT PERFORMANCE.

Love isn't a natural habit for any animal. Mating is a natural habit, but the love which carries on "for better or worse," through family life and friendship, is not natural. It is an acquired habit—part of our civilized program which could still perform poorly and irregularly.

We know how to do nearly everything better than we know how to love. We know how to fear and hate, how to work and play and fight far better than we know how to love, because we have done these things ever since life first started. But we have loved for a comparatively short time—it is our newest, most difficult lesson.

So love isn't a continuous performance for any of us. We are able to love for a longer or shorter period, according to our nature. But sooner or later we all slump into the old animal selfishness and indifference.

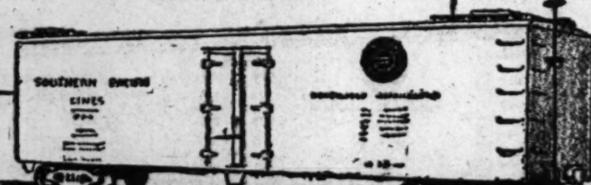

These slumps would be perfectly harmless if we knew what was happening. But we don't. No one has ever told the truth about love. No one has ever told us what to expect of love . . . how much or how little we are able to love . . . how much of a strain human love can, as yet, stand. To the contrary, we have been told a number of delightful but perfectly idiotic fairy tales. We have been told that True Love Never Dies . . . That Two Hearts Will Always Beat As One, if they really love each other . . . that "Nothing Can Quench the Fires of Love." So, naturally, at the first quenching, we decide that love is over—or never really happened. And forthwith we proceed to say or do things to each other which may mar our lives forever.

Which is as tragically silly as it would be to cut off a baby's feet because it toddles before it walks!

Then, what happens? We do when love goes into a slump? We carry on what we do when our interests cool in any other department of our civilized lives. What do we do when we grow sick of our jobs . . . long to turn tramp again? We CARRY ON. We keep a good front. We go through the gestures, even though we feel no interest in them. Presently our interest will revive and our work will once more be interesting.

We can do exactly the same with love. Love, like all other civilized arrangements, is bound to prove a dull and irksome business every so often. But that's no proof that it is a failure—it is only proof that we're not yet grown up. So when that time comes for you—don't be surprised and horrified. Don't decide that you, or the other fellow, aren't fit for love. Be glad and proud, rather, that you're able

HOROSCOPE
by WYNN

For Wednesday, Aug. 22.

BUILD UP your opportunities in the morning, and then let them go in the afternoon. Can be made a good and resultful day by the good and resourceful lad or lassie. Be diplomatic with superiors. Slow on the emotional curves.

Neptune for Capricorn.

Many openings are now coming the way of those born in Capricorn (and there are plenty of these folks who think it's about time they got a good break), and there's usually an "if" or a "but"—they are able to learn with their lower and higher minds what their feelings are for. This is apt to have much to do with understanding, affection, anger, sense of injustice, hatred, or some other manipulation of emotional energy, particularly for those born Dec. 24 to Jan. 15, inclusive, during the next two and a half years. Travel and moving about, both physically and mentally, look like excellent exercises and experiences for those in this outfit; get around and see people; see the whole world if you can. Don't let anything shut you in; circulate.

Year Ahead.

Women of this birthdate should use extra wisdom in their relations with men during the coming year; do nothing too quickly. All born on this date are apt to find the going harder Feb. 18 to June 10 next year; use your philosophy and experience to good advantage for travel comes your way to come. Avoid danger. Jan. 24 to Feb. 3, and May 28 to June 2, 1932.

Tomorrow.

Good for honest and practical purposes; go to it; make it count big.

Corn Fritters

One cup fresh corn (uncooked). One cup flour. One cup baking powder. One-half teaspoon salt. One-fourth teaspoon paprika. One-fourth teaspoon celery salt. One egg or two yolks. One-third cup milk. One-fourth teaspoon salt. Mix ingredients and beat well. Drop portions from tip of tablespoon into deep hot fat. Fry until well browned on all sides. Serve hot.

EVERDAY RELIGION
SO THIS IS SCIENCE!

By DR. JOSEPH FORT NEWTON

A REPORT of a meeting of men of science today reads like a chapter from Alice in Wonderland, only more so. No set of theologians could tell such tales and get away with it. But it is the fashion to swallow science whole, and we do it on faith, too!

Who said that the age of faith is long gone by? Today it is laid down as basic that nothing is certain but uncertainty—by science itself. Only a few years ago we were told that science is all fact, and religion all faith, but that day is upset and out of date.

Facts are flying things, it seems, and it is hard to put salt on their tails. Even solid matter has melted into whirling energy, and the materialist is up in the air. Literally, so be it. He need not stand on his head to be an acrobatic. But, stranger still, Pieron tells us that life is not real; it is merely dreamed. But that is old stuff. Plato said it ages ago under the blue skies of Greece. And before his time the Hindu dogma of Maya—illusion—held sway. Did not Shakespeare say that we are such stuff as dreams are made of? Socrates thought so, too.

After all, maybe those old thinkers were not such fools as smart folk think! Even science shows that they hit the mark. Bohr, an authority on the atom, recently discovered "the inherent duality of things" and that the universe is a kind of Jekyll-and-Jekyll. So the thinking of India thought, and set it down in their great epic "These two, light and darkness, are the eternal ways of the world," they said.

With which Plato agreed, as well as many another. But they say deeper than science to the unity beneath duality, to the changes reality behind the endless flux and reflux of life. Call it God, Spirit, the Self, the Mind, the Hand behind life, bound mind, pervading all change, but itself abiding—the rhythm and reason of things.

If the progress of science goes on, perhaps we may yet catch up with those great first thinkers, whom we look down upon as mystics!

The inn looks strange—I have been long away, but here they wait—the lads who form my clan. No leers, no censure—words are golden-gold. The while we lift our tankards—man to man; Well, here our pence can still the biting pain. When love faded down the highways of the night, And I have come back, time and time again, To learn how many wrongs can make a right.

I know the answer over is the same, I know the gaping terror of the dawn, But I will grit my teeth and play the game. And gain the pride of one who carries on When all is lost except the memory Of one who was so very dear to me.

BIDE 'EM COWBOY!

When Will Rogers, one of the better squelchers, is "topped" that is news, indeed. Tom Mix is credited with snapping back at Rogers recently, in an interview. It happened when the interviewer called Tom's attention to Will's name.

"Tom's contract by virtue of your partner's second-round revelation that he has support for your four-card heart suit?" First, let me sum up What You Know About Your Partner's Hand.

Negatively, you know that First. Though having a biddable open suit, and also support for a heart suit which you have not been able to rebid, you were not strong enough to make an immediate first-round forcing three-heart lead.

Second. Though he knew on the second round that yours was a defensive type of hand containing at least three primary tricks, he could not give you a second-round force by bidding three hearts for you over your no-trump rebid. That is to say, the responding hand, though fully informed about the type of your hand, was not strong enough for you to rebid, and you have not been able to rebid, either.

Rip's Decision.

Rip wondered what he would do. He was as hungry as could be, and yet there was something that he didn't like about the man who had offered him the bone. "Come right over to me, nice dog," urged the man. "There's lots of meat on this bone. I don't believe in giving a dog a bone with nothing on it."

"Any dog with spirit and appetite can clean a bone for himself." The man certainly talked well, Rip thought, and had the right idea about important matters, such as bones. And yet Rip hesitated.

What should he do?

The man noticed that Rip seemed to be undecided and urged him some more.

"Nice doggie, good doggie, come over and talk to me," the man said in quite a kind tone of voice. Evidently he wanted to be friendly. Rip wondered what there was about him that he didn't like.

"Don't you want to make friends?" the man continued, and Rip said to himself that he was being foolish and not a bit nice to be so rude to a man who was offering him a good meal.

As Rip thought this he realized once more how exceedingly hungry he was. The walk had certainly given him an appetite.

And yet it seemed strange that a man should be out riding without a dog and have a bone covered with meat ready to offer to a strange dog he met along the roadside.

"Bow-wow, bark, bark, thank you very much: I'd certainly be happy to have the bone you offer me," Rip said, wagging his tail. It was a great, great mistake on Rip's part!

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION
by MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr: NTLY recently I had been going out with a fine young man. We had been going together about 16 months and were quite in love with each other. A month and a half ago I quit my job and he was starting work in the day. He kept asking me to give up my job, but before I needed the money, I kept working for about three weeks. In my folks objected to the amount of time I had to quit. I quit the time I was working I was a young man through my employer, and through him, my other, all successful business men are respectable in every way.

My friend had to work hard and get up early, but finally, with his permission, since he could take me out very little. I went out with his boys. But I never knew a man's peace after that. I was half-dead from the time my friend arrived until he left; his question showing that he had been in me. He expected me to sit at home when he could come, I wanted to go out some with him.

He then made two dates, which he broke, the first one because he did not want to do the dance, and the second because the man he had been dating was married.

I only found out the night before that he was, and that he was separated and waiting for the divorce to come up in court. We never got to see each other again. My friend came with a chip on his shoulder, didn't ask for explanations and didn't get any.

We both behaved foolishly. Mrs. H. is justified in wanting to break up. In spite of all his faults I know I have plenty) I still like him as much as ever and would like to be back with him again.

"COOKIE."

It was a question, of course, of whether or not we were willing to give up everything for him. I did just how much claim he had that. There were two with chips on the shoulder. But probably the chip has taken a tumble, too. At this time, and he has changed my mind about "breaking up" whatever that is, exactly.

Will someone help this lad out? I will by offering my services. I am leaving my address with you. ILLINOISAN.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

PLEASE help a young man to get work, if it is humanly possible; he has a wife and baby six months old and is making only $15 a week. He will work at anything, no matter how hard it is. He has a good education and good references.

As sure as there is a God, he is starving and can hardly get a shower. Please hurry your answer. R. V. M.

I wish it were possible to answer letters of this kind and others that come in every mail, asking for employment, for immediate help. But it is impossible for me to do this or to go into the work of looking up employment as a general thing. These are places organized and established for this purpose, which they are too often unable to find work for all, because of present emergencies.

For this particular correspondent, I must recommend, not only the Citizens' Relief Employment Bureau, but the Provident Association, who, on necessity must investigate and then will help, if in their judgment they should meet the immediate demands.

Others, such as "Mrs. P. H. M." urge me to find someone to help them, the houses which they must offer, to their incomes. Some times a want ad will bring these people. If possible I keep the addresses and if I happen to know some one to send them I am glad to do so.

But this is very uncertain and I believe it should be done, like other business, through business channels.

WE ARE trying to budget our $150 a month income, we two. Could you give us some idea of what we should spend on living, music, food, clothing, etc.? — G. W.

I can give you only a general idea of the budgeting of such an income, compiled by a well-known business firm. It is as follows:

Food, $40; shelter, $35; household, $15; clothing, $15; development (under which head you might place your music), $15; life insurance, $10.50; other investments, $15.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WHAT kind of letter should a company send a manuscript to be sent to a publishing house? Will it be accepted written in ink, or must it be typed?

THANKFUL.

It is not necessary to write a letter and send with your manuscript. It should, most certainly, be typed. Some houses refuse to read manuscripts sent in longhand. Get medium-weight paper, eight by eleven, leave at least four-inch space at top and one inch at the sides. Have your name and address at upper left-hand corner. Send flat do not roll, and inclose self-addressed and stamped envelope for its return, in case they do not accept it.

"I can never go out with anyone but when I do go, etc." "She never allows me to write to anyone but when I do write, etc." "She never will let me go to a show, but we do, etc."

Sounds a trifle inconsistent and extravagant, doesn't it?

CLOTHES As a CURE for MENTAL ILLS

JUST LIKE WOMEN SHOPPERS ANY WHERE ELSE

An Opportunity to Enjoy the Normal Woman's Pleasure in Finery Has Been Created at the State Hospital at Anna, Ill., With Beneficial Results.

BY MARGUERITE MARTYN.

OVE of personal adornment is an elemental feminine attribute, dating, we are taught, back to Mother Eve. Usually it is the first sign by which little girls are to be differentiated from little boys. Also it is likely to be the last resource to which a woman clinging to her deteriorates physically if not mentally. Artificial aids to beauty as a means to please are not unknown. I will be more than willing to work in exchange for it, as I am unemployed. The long winter evenings are just around the corner and I can think of no greater gift that he would enjoy more.

GOOD TASTE
By EMILY POST

"This is . . ."

MY DEAR MRS. POST: YOU wrote in your column that the introduction, "Miss Brown, this is my mother," is generally acceptable, which reminded me of an incident which may amuse you. Several years ago my employer and his family came to our house in the country for dinner. After dinner, I was showing him about the farm when we met our overseer. I introduced my guest, "This is my employer, Mr. Jones." Our overseer retorted, "Is it?" "So in spirit it is," I replied. "I've not dared to use it since. Before leaving this, I would like you to explain why you wrote "Miss Brown" first and then "My Mother" who would quite likely be the older lady?

Answer: Your story is very amusing, and it does rather emphasize the impropriety of "This is" as part of a formal introduction. And yet when used with an enthusiastic intonation it can express both warmth and charm. "Miss Brown, may I present you to my mother?" Or "My mother, Miss Brown" are both impersonal. If you said, "Mother, this is Miss Brown," it should mean that Miss Brown is someone of special importance to you. For example, I remember a drawing in "London Punch" in which a small boy approaching his mother and, holding an abandoned bird, exclaims, "Mummy, THIS IS HER!" In the same way a child would introduce a beloved teacher enthusiastically, "Mother, this is Miss Brown," or his dislike for another teacher could equally well be expressed in the coldness of tone in which "This is Miss Dour" is pronounced. To say, "Miss Brown, this is my mother!" in the sense of "Behold, this is she—my mother," has an affectionate emphasis (when affectionately said) that other introductions lack.

There are tabus such as "Meet the wife," "Mr. Smith, shake hands with Mr. Jones," "Let me make you acquainted with," which must be avoided, but barring these exceptions the wording of an informal introduction is not important. By "informal" I mean every introduction except such an introduction as that to a cardinal, or to the President, or to other personages who are set apart from the rest of us. In such cases we must very formally say, "Your Eminence, may I present?" or in the case of the President, merely mention the name of the person being introduced, and so on.

WELCH'S USED ON REDUCING DIET

People who have given the most thorough study to the science of reducing healthfully have lately brought out some very interesting facts.

For years the "grape cure" has been prescribed by the most eminent European doctors as the ideal method of healthful weight reduction. But that involves the eating of many pounds of grapes daily, which is not practical.

Afternoon Chic.

THIS is a charming frock to slip into whenever the occasion demands you look your "very feminine best." We'd advise it of a bewitching silk print or a new mattole crepe to carry us well into the new season. Shoulder capes are very noisy, fighting, more violent types. I was told, yet there they were, quiet, more subdued than women in some of the other rooms. In another room were women employed at all sorts of fancy needlework, weaving, hooked rugs, cross stitch embroidery, basketry. Here they were contented, absorbed and turned out, in most cases, fine handwork. Yet these were types not to be trusted with industrial work. In another building men patients work at all sorts of handicrafts as occupational therapy. One point of difference between would find to do. In one room there was a large institution that living quarters are assigned to small individual wards, each with its own wide hallway and recreation rooms and its individual single bedrooms. The women's bedrooms are light and airy, each with its window draped with pastel shaded ruffled curtains, and each decorated with some of the handicrafts produced in the occupational therapy shop.

Apparels, manners, deportments, cleanliness, orderliness are stressed with resultant courtesy and regard for the rights of others, essential to making life endurable where so many are living together. The better clothes movement alone, it is said, has lifted the tone and the spirits in every department.

One will be interested in another heading which has been published, called "Red-Blooded Children." It describes a wonderful method of building up the respiratory, circulatory, nervous, digestive, muscular, and skeletal systems of children.

THE KENNEL MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO.

"JUST so," the Major returned aggressively. "The reason happened to be at her apartment that night was because we were having a farewell dinner, and I was to see her off on the boat. Doris — that is, Miss Delafield — on my advice, left the dog in the care of her maid."

"And what time did Miss Delafield sail Wednesday night?"

"On the Olympic — at midnight."

"And you were in the apartment at what time?"

"I called about six o'clock, and we went out immediately. We had dinner — let me see — at a little restaurant — I suppose you might call it a speak-easy — and we remained there until it was time to go to the boat."

"What little restaurant was it?"

Higginbottom knitted his brow. "Ruthie, Mr. Vance, I can't remember."

"A bit vague — eh, what?" Vance let his eyes come to rest mildly on the Major. "But thank you just the same. I think I'll stagger back to New York and have a chat with Miss Delafield's maid. I'm sure you won't mind. What, by the way, is her name?"

The Major looked a bit startled.

"Annie Cochrane," he said, and then hurriedly added: "But I say, Mr. Vance, this thing sounds rather serious. Would you mind if I accompanied you to the city? I myself would like to know why Anne didn't report to me the absence of the dog?"

We drove back to New York with Maj. Higginbottom and went direct to the Belle Maison.

Annie Cochrane was a young, dark-haired woman in her early thirties. When she saw Maj. Higginbottom she appeared flustered.

"Listened here," the Major said aggressively. "Why didn't you tell me that Miss Delafield's dog had disappeared?"

Annie explained stumblingly that she had been afraid to say anything about the dog's disappearance, as she considered it her fault that the dog was gone.

"Just when did the dog disappear, Annie?" asked Vance.

"I missed her, sir," she said, "just after Maj. Higginbottom and Miss Doris went out Wednesday night, at about 9 o'clock, sir."

Vance turned to Higginbottom with a faint smile.

"Didn't I understand you to say that you went out at 6 o'clock, Major?"

BEFORE Higginbottom could answer, the maid blurted: "Oh, no; it wasn't 6 o'clock. It wasn't until 9 o'clock. I got dinner for them here a little after 8."

The Major looked down and stroked his chin cogitatively.

"Yes, yes," he nodded. "That's right. I thought it was 6 o'clock, but now I remember."

Vance appeared to accept his explanation without question.

"And what time did you arrive here that evening, Major?"

Higginbottom seemed to ponder the question; but before he could speak Annie supplied the information.

"You arrived about 6 o'clock, sir," she informed him with a respectful naivete. "And Miss Doris came in at 7:30."

"All right, Annie."

The Major pretended to be grateful for having this much point referred to his memory. "Miss Delafield," he explained blandly to Vance, "said she had been shopping."

"Well, well," murmured Vance. "I didn't know the shops were open so late. . . . Astonishin'! By the by, Annie," he asked, "was the dog here during dinner?"

"Oh, yes, sir," the woman assured him. "She always gets under my feet when I'm servin'."

"And how do you account for the fact that she disappeared immediately after Maj. Higginbottom and Miss Delafield had gone?"

"I don't know, sir—honest. I don't. I looked for her for everywhere."

"Why didn't you look in the street?" Vance asked.

"Oh, she couldn't have got into the street," the maid explained.

"The door was closed and locked when I left and Mr. Higginbottom went out."

"Then, as I understand it, the dog could only have gone into the rear yard?"

"Yes, sir; that's all."

IF YOU look in the vacant lot next door, between this house and Mr. Coe's residence?"

"I looked there, too, sir, though I knew it wouldn't do any good. There's no way she could have gotten through the gate, for it's always kept locked."

"Miss MacTavish was allowed, however, to run in the rear yard, wasn't she?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"At just what time, Annie, did you start your search for the dog?"

"It is quite important that you be accurate."

"I can tell you almost exactly, sir," the woman answered, without hesitation. "It was when I was through with my dishes and the housework. Miss Doris and Mr. Higginbottom went out at 9 o'clock and when I had straightened everything up, it was exactly half-past ten."

Vance turned to Higginbottom.

"By the by," he asked, "where did you get Miss MacTavish, Major?"

"I bought her from Mr. Henry Bix."

SEEN IN THE STORES

THE bamboo tree provides the most exciting news that has come from the costume jewelry centers many a day. College girls please note, because the bamboo jewelry was made with your campus cloths in mind. You'll find bracelets that resemble miniature stalks, bar pins that are tiny logs of wood and clips that will give a wooden frock that woody tone that it needs. Of course, these aren't expensive, but it's safe to say they'll be one of the entrance requirements that the smartest girls will need.

Nutria fur has gotten up in the world bit and now poses as more with the nonchalance that any chic trimming can. An interesting two-piece suit of the semi-sports type has this mole-toned fur as a border around the tailored collar and on the revers. Its method of application suggests the tuxedo style, one that has been missing from smart fashions for, lo, too many seasons.

Now that frou-frou fashions are sought by the women who keep abreast of style trends, a ruffle and a glove make it all the more desirable. And two cuffless will, of course, put the glove in the ultra class. Some satin gloves take your choice of black or white; have cuffs that form two wide ruffles, one above the other.

In spite of the elegant theme that promises to dominate the autumn and winter seasons, an occasional masculine accessory claims attention. This is true of the tailored and scarfed outerwear, which are becoming to be found on the men's neckwear counters. Plain crepes, satins and necktie silks are most in evidence, and the fore-in-hand type of tying assures the greatest success.

A woman with a new handbag is likely to keep it open most of the time so that you can get a glimpse of its fastidious interior. The autumn bags, though you are usually lined with suede, and according to the style editor, the color must match that of the outside. A very elegant imported bag measuring up to these essentials is of morocco leather and has its sporty top rolled down.

If you should fail for a hat at the coque feather trimming, you will be to keep your distance from your friends. Otherwise, the feathers are listed there at the back of a gown and doll's feet, or will be a good dust catcher. You'll be saving it on many of the new after-dark dresses, especially those for most elaborate dances.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

2.—Not a particle. This statement can now be made with forty years of experimental biology to support it. Sir J. Arthur Thompson, noted biologist of Aberdeen, Scotland, says in this form, the question of the inheritance of acquired characters "can be safely laid on the shelf." The father improves his body cells and thus his own efficiency, but this does not improve his germ-cells. I shall point out here, in the near future, why this is extremely fortunate and optimistic.

3.—It is a fine thing for a father to get as close to his son as possible, but I think a good deal of this respect was talking through his hat. True, some women are gloriously, transcendently, madly pleasing to men—and some, well, they do not quite fill out Rousseau's picture or else some men are easily pleased. But most women manage to please some men besides doing a great many much more important things.

The News-Reel Men Hold the Fort

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

FOREIGN nation opened a pretty kettle of dried cod-sh when it threatened the life of a New York news reel man.

The camera men haven't lost a war yet. Anybody is foolish who antagonizes a man who can make your grandma show her knees when returning from Europe.

Among the famous victories of the camera boys is the ridgetop in Morgan's lap. That will go down in history with the retreat from Moscow and "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

The Bunker Hill command not to shoot until you see the whites of their eyes means nothing to an intrepid camera man on the beach. He doesn't shoot until he sees everything.

We don't think a war with the news reel men would be successful. No matter how great your triumph you would always run second to Mickey Mouse.

The intelligent thing right now is a written apology with sound effects.

SCHOONER IS BEACHED IN RAGING GALE IN ATLANTIC

Nine Men and Woman Are Taken Off by the Coast Guards, Cape Hatteras Navy Station Reports by Radio.

DISABLED SHIP RIDING OUT STORM
Steamer Madison Disabled Off Virginia Coast on Way From New York to Norfolk—Not Thought to Be in Danger.

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 23.—A radio message to the coast guard cutter Modo from the navy station at Cape Hatteras at 3 p. m. said the schooner G. A. Kohler had beached two miles south of Gulf Shore coast guard station and nine men and a woman had been taken off by coast guardmen.

The G. A. Kohler's home port was not known here.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The coast guard radio station intercepted a message from the disabled steamer Madison late today saying that at 8 a. m. the ship was safely riding out the mountainous storm off the Atlantic Coast.

The coast guard said it had no knowledge of the immediate position of the coast guard cutters Upshur and Carrabassett, but believed they were near the Madison.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Caught between a raging nor'easter and a tropical hurricane blowing up from Bermuda, the Atlantic seaboard found no respite today from five days of storm and gale which already have caused death and destruction over a wide area.

SOS calls came from the steamer Madison with more than 90 persons aboard, and a Coast Guard cutter going to her aid off Cape Charles, Va., was caught in the storm and disabled.

Reports from along the eastern coast told of thousands of dollars' worth of damage by the hurricane and the possible loss of life. The storm was reported passing inland and did some damage in Washington.

Ship Sends Second SOS.
A second SOS call was sent out by the steamer Madison shortly before noon.

The message, picked up by Mackay Radio at 11:30 a. m. and by the United States Coast Guard at 11:38 a. m., gave the position at 20 miles northeast of Chesapeake Lightship, off the coast of Virginia, and said: "Housing broken."

The first distress signal, at 7 o'clock this morning, which was followed by five hours of silence, said the entire forward deck house had been washed away.

The vessel had 37 passengers and a crew of 50 to 60 aboard. Capt. William Heath is in command.

Rescue Ships Disbanded.

A wireless message intercepted by the Coast Guard this afternoon said two Coast Guard vessels, the Upshur and the Carrabassett, were alongside the Madison.

The three vessels were reported to be hove to in heavy seas and a whole gale. Part of the main house of the Madison, on the port side, the message said, was stove in, but the ship itself was reported to be riding out an even keel.

Shipping men said the fact that the Madison was riding on an even keel and her damage was above the water line indicated she was riding out the storm.

No advices from either of the Coast Guard vessels indicated whether anyone was hurt or lost. The Madison left New York yesterday for Norfolk, Va.

Two of the passengers on board, it was learned later, were George Dassauer and D. W. Schaefer of New York.

Officers of the Eastern Steamship Lines, owners of the ship, said the only passenger list was on board.

The Madison was built in 1911 at Newport News, Va., and is 2406 tons net register. It is engaged in the Old Dominion coastwise service of the Eastern Steamship Lines.

Weather experts of the Bureau of Aeronautics said that at 8 a. m. the storm in the area in which the Madison is in distress had reached "force 10"—the most severe recording of a storm.

When a storm reaches force 10
